Spring 2008 Workshops and Programs

The Graduate Writing Center Winter workshops will include general writing workshops on a variety of topics and tutorials on ESL writing issues. We will also hold targeted writing workshops for graduate students in the areas of Humanities & Arts, Social Sciences, and Sciences & Engineering. Additionally, we will post information about workshops being offered by the UCLA libraries. Special thanks to our campus programming partners: UCLA Library, Writing Programs, Academic Technology Services, Statistical Consulting Group, Student Psychological Services, and the Career Center.

Copyright and Permissions Issues: What You Need to Know to File
Sharon Farb, Associate University Librarian for Collection Management and Scholarly Communication
Angela Riggio, Head of Digital Collection Management, Digital Collections Services
This workshop will explain permissions and copyright issues related to filing theses and dissertations. It will cover how to use work that you have already published, when to obtain permissions for using works published by others, and whether using visuals requires permissions. The workshop will also offer practical advice on how to request permissions and copyright your own thesis. Please bring your questions!
Thursday, April 17th, 4:00-5:30 p.m.
Citation and Academic Integrity Issues

Eudora Loh, YRL Librarian

Common research and writing situations often present complex questions related to citation and paraphrasing. In support of maintaining academic integrity, this workshop will offer practical guidance for citing sources and using information ethically.

Tuesday, May 6th, 4:00-5:30pm
Location: Conference Room 4, Student Activities Center (basement level)

ARTstor Basics

Janine Henri, Architecture, Design and Digital Services Librarian

ARTstor is a digital image library with a set of tools to view, present, and manage images for research and pedagogical purposes. This workshop, geared for researchers engaged with the visual arts, architecture, humanities and social sciences, will introduce the basic features of ARTstor: searching, browsing, sorting, and displaying images, creating image groups and shared folders, and exporting images and citations.

Monday, May 12th, 2:00-4:00pm
Location: Research Library East Electronic Classroom, Room 21536

For additional workshops offered by the UCLA libraries, see their seminar page.

General Writing Workshops

Best Practices for Writing Your Master's Thesis

Netta Avineri, Applied Linguistics & TESL

This workshop will begin with a discussion of scope, expectations, and time constraints as related to master’s theses. We will then consider writing and organizational strategies for the typical components of master’s theses in different disciplines. Lastly, we will discuss approaches to and tips for revision of the project. Students at any stage of writing are encouraged to attend.

Thursday, April 3rd, 12:00-1:30pm
Location: Conference Room 4, Student Activities Center (basement level)

RSVP requested. Please click here for the workshop reservation form.

Grammar, Punctuation, and Style 101: A Refresher Workshop on All the Grammar You've Forgotten

Andrea Olinger, Applied Linguistics & TESL

Jodie Katon, Epidemiology

This workshop will review grammar, punctuation, style, and usage and strategies for proofreading your own work. The target audience is native speakers of English who feel rusty on grammar, but ESL students are welcome to attend. Topics will reflect participants' interests but will likely include parallel structure, misplaced and dangling modifiers, active and passive voice, commas, semicolons, apostrophes, who versus whom, which versus that, and tricky subject-verb agreement issues.

Wednesday, April 23rd, 3:00-5:00pm
Location: Conference Room 4, Student Activities Center (basement level)

How to Give an Effective Conference Presentation

Randy Fallows, Writing Programs

In this workshop, we will discuss ways of effectively presenting a paper at a conference. We will learn how to focus on important details, integrate visuals, and connect the thesis to larger concerns and issues. We will also learn how to field questions and create contacts. If you have a conference paper, bring it along.

Thursday, April 24th, 4:00-6:00pm
Location: Conference Room 4, Student Activities Center (basement level)

Making It Clear, Making It Flow: Style and Grammar for ESL Graduate Students
In this workshop, we will consider how to use language to create stylistically clear and cohesive papers, focusing specifically on grammatical, vocabulary, and structural choices. We will also work on strategies that you can use to edit your own writing for clarity and flow.

Thursday, May 1st, 12:00-1:30pm
Location: Conference Room 4, Student Activities Center (basement level)

Revision Workshop: Strategies for Revising Longer Texts
Marilyn Gray, Graduate Writing Center Coordinator
This workshop will be a hands-on workshop to give people ideas and strategies for how to revise longer texts, such as master’s theses, dissertation chapters or proposals. Please bring a hard copy of your own work, at least 15-20 double-spaced pages (more is fine). If you would like to do some of the preparation work ahead of time, start working on a backwards outline by tagging each paragraph with a phrase describing its main point.
Thursday, May 22nd, 4:00-6:00pm
Location: Conference Room 4, Student Activities Center (basement level)

Inventing your Ideas: Strategies for Avoiding and Overcoming Writer’s Block
Randy Fallows, Writing Programs
In this workshop we will discuss what causes writer’s block and how to overcome it. We will first examine ways of eliminating psychological blocks and then look at practical heuristics that help to inspire new ideas.
Thursday, May 29th, 4:00-5:30pm
Location: Conference Room 4, Student Activities Center (basement level)
